Staffed by Microsoft certified technicians we can assure you will receive properly configured systems. SMART does it right the first time and every time.

AUSTIN - Fortune magazine describes Austin's business climate as one of the nation's best. Its high technology sector includes more than 400 companies; many of them, like Dell Computer Corporation, CompuAdd and National Instruments, are nationally recognized Austin-based businesses. Austin is the seat of Texas government and home to a world-class university. The city's advanced technology sector has blossomed into a billion dollar market.

DALLAS is the Southwest's leading business and financial center. It boasts the largest wholesale market in the world and lays claim to being one of the top convention cities in the United States and the No.1 visitor destination in Texas

HOUSTON - Houston ranks fifth in the Fortune 500 headquarters, behind New York, Chicago, San Francisco, and Los Angeles. (Twenty-one companies on the 2000 Fortune 500 list are headquartered in Houston.) Houston's economy today is healthy, with a job growth rate seven times the national rate. With 1.7 percent of the nation's jobs, Houston accounted for 11 percent of the nation's job growth during the 12 months ending July 2001.

CORPUS CHRISTI - Corpus Christi officials are considering developing its waterfront, home to the beautiful convention center and two museums. Vision incorporates shops, restaurants and entertainment, creating a public-private venture in which the city contributes the land and private companies develop it. Tourism is a significant industry in Corpus Christi. According to the Corpus Christi Economic Development Corporation, from 1990 to 2000, tourism's economic impact increased from $300 million to $550 million.
